

Idaho 55 Corridor Study Description

The Idaho 55 Corridor Study will address 134 miles of highway in six counties from New Meadows to Marsing.

This important north-south route supports the Treasure Valley daily commute, the long-haul trucking and agricultural industries, and recreational traffic.

The Idaho 55 study will result in a corridor plan that will guide roadway policies and projects for the next 20 years. The plan will be based on community input, engineering studies, and city, county and highway district goals.
